MIDGET SMITHS
VICTOR ON POINTS

Outboxes Barry Hill in Ten Round Bantam Bout in the Garden.

DEFEAT FOR CHINAMAN

Georgie Lee Takes Plenty of Punishment From George Daily.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

Barry Hill, a famous amateur boxer of the pugilistic fraternity, emerged last night from a well earned retirement in an effort to reestablish himself in the roped square. He made a gallant effort, but the youth, vigor and combativeness of Midget Smith were too much for the veteran. Hill started off with enthusiasm and earned the cheers of the spectators by staggering Smith with a well placed right to the jaw in the first round.

Hill had the advantage on points in the first session, but the last pace set by the Midget in the succeeding rounds slowed the former amateur to a walk. Smith battered Hill all over the ring, playing him with heavy thumps to face and body. Hill showed much courage, and certainly fought an up hill fight.

Hill used all his defensive skill to avoid Smith's attack, and occasionally the veteran unhooked an effective punch. Hill was very tired in the seventh round, but managed to weather the shower of blows sent over by Smith.

To the surprise of the onlookers, Hill was on his feet at the end of the tenth round, but he was a thoroughly beaten man.

Smith made a strong effort to finish Hill in the tenth round, but while the veteran was worn and often reeled about the ring, he managed to last the limit.

Garden Packed With Fans.
It is apparently immaterial to the boxing patrons of Madison Square Garden whether champion or youngsters who hope to star in the ring appear, the result is always the same, the arena is packed from the ground to the dome. Although not any of last night's contestants had ever held a title the result was the same, every seat in the amphitheatre was filled when the first pair entered the ring.

They were two robust featherweights, Joe Leopold of Denver and Mickey Brown of New York. They gave a slam bang exhibition for eight rounds which thoroughly pleased the onlookers. Neither Leopold nor Brown could boast of any boxing science, but they both pursued each other with the greatest endurance. Leopold landed the most effective blows and earned the award of the judges. The Denver man nearly scored a knock-out in the eighth round. A heavy left hander to the body caught the New Yorker to double up. However, by using his feet and clinching he managed to last the round out.

Morris Lux, a welter from the West, demonstrated how much punishment a boxer can take and still remain on his feet. Martin Summers, a New York welter, hammered Lux on the body and jaw for ten rounds, but failed to knock him off his feet. It appeared that either Lux had a Joe Grimm jaw or else Summers was an ineffective puncher.

The bout was so one sided and uninteresting that the spectators booed the performers. Summers was not at fault and did all he possibly could, but Lux is in peak, being much on the body and self or hand an effective blow on his opponent. Summers won on points by a 10-0 to 0. It was a disappointing bout.

Former Amateur Beats Chinaman.
What proved to be the most exciting bout of the night brought into the ring the best Chinese boxer in America, George Washington Lee. He was opposed by George Daily, a former amateur champion, who made his debut as a professional in a bout with Lee.

Lee, Anderson, who had been scheduled to meet the Chinaman, was unable to do so on account of an injury. Daily therefore took the bout on short notice and the supposition was that the Chinaman would have a walkway. To the astonishment of the onlookers Daily put up a wonderful battle from start to finish and received the verdict of the judges. It was one of the fastest fights between bantams ever seen in the ring and the efforts of the youngsters were cheered to the sky by the crowd. Lee had the advantage in the first three rounds, but Daily aroused himself about the fourth and from that time to the finish he fought the Chinaman off his feet.

Commissioner Hooke said last night that the International Sporting Club has not yet applied for a license.

New York Promoters

Warned in Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 1.—New York boxers and boxing promoters were singled out in a statement made to-day by Mayor King, athletic instructor at Yale and chairman of the State Boxing Commission. He said:

"There will be no more 'phony' stuff, so far as boxing is concerned, in Connecticut. We mean business, and the New York promoters who have been using Connecticut as a place to exploit a lot of these bouts not above board can't do it any more."

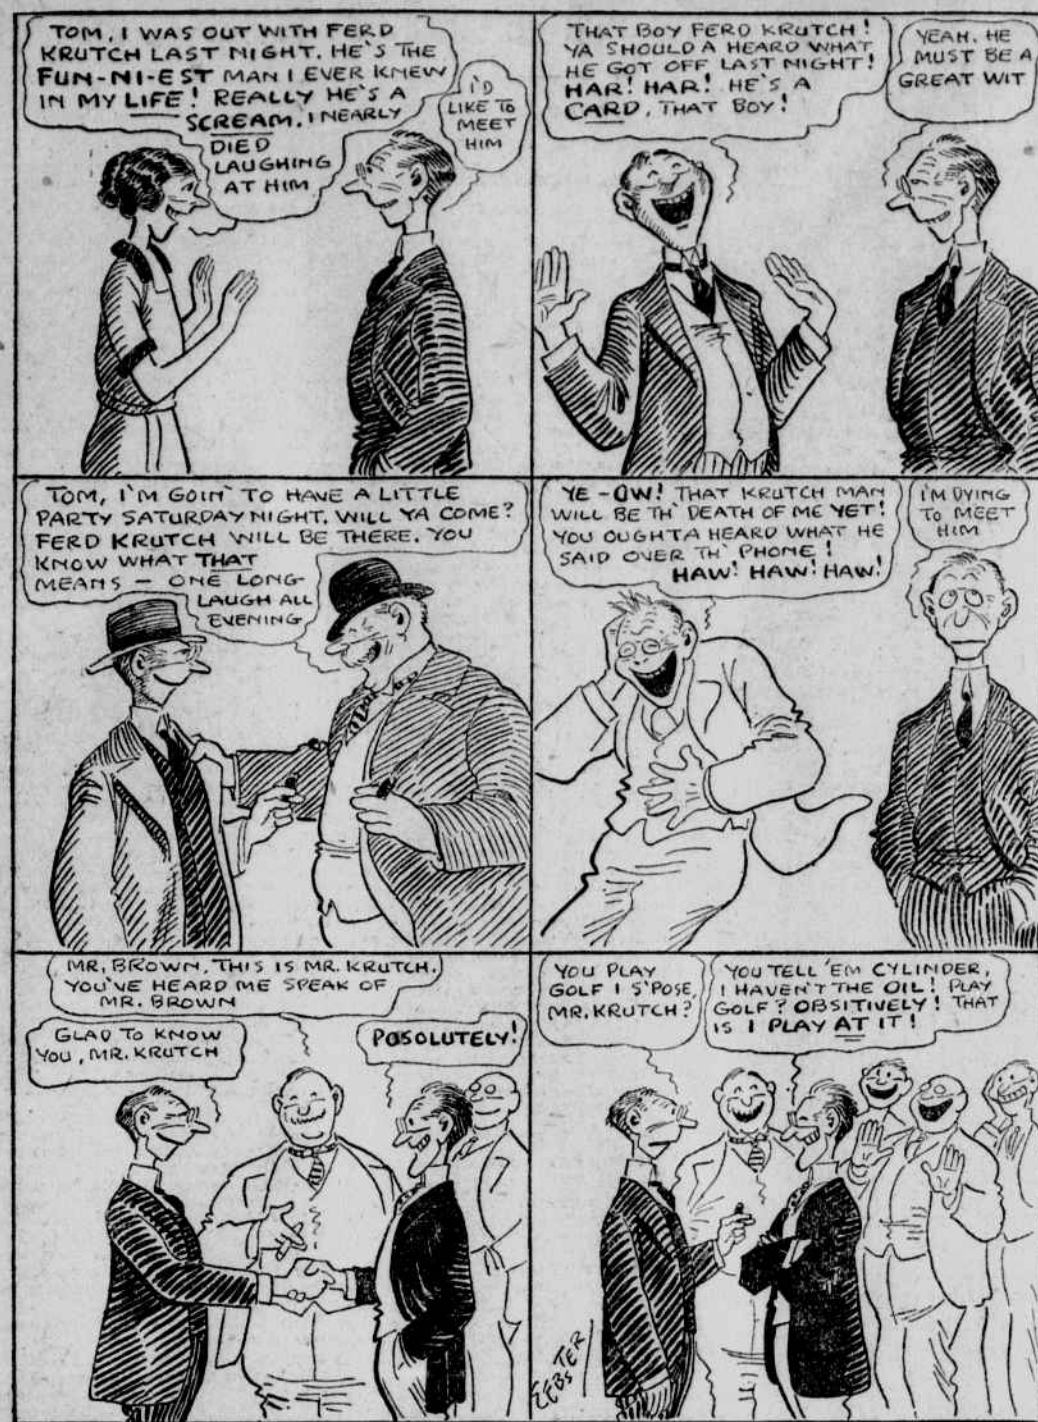

The notice. The commission has agreed to display the pictures in Chicago, and the answer denies the allegations contained in the complaint, and declares that defendant lacks knowledge or information sufficient to form any opinion as to said allegations.

The plaintiff is husband of Bee Palmer, vaudeville dancer, who was alleged in news stories from Minnesota some weeks ago to have caused Dempsey to be served with copies of a summons and complaint in a suit for alienation of affections of his wife.

Fine for Tex Rickard.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpenter heavyweight championship fight, to-day was fined $500 and costs by Federal Judge Carpenter after entering a plea of guilty on charges of transporting motion pictures of the contest into Illinois from New York. Rickard will be able to display the pictures in Chicago and other cities in the State without further prosecution, it was said.
